NEW DELAY FOR STRIKE IS GRANTED BY MINERS

October 16 Is Date Set And New Vote Is Ordered

MAY COMPROMISE

Owners In Offer Of Higher Wages To Stop Trouble

PREMIER ACTS

Joint Committee Is Named At Suggestion Of Lloyd George

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 1.—The miners' delegate conference has decided to postpone the coal strike until Oct. 16.

The miners will vote on the owners' new proposals on October 11 and 12 and the conference will consider the results on October 14.

The revised proposal of the owners provides for the shifting of the "datum line" to 240,000,000 tons for an increase of 1s. daily in wages, 244,000,000 tons for an increase of 1s. 6d., and 248,000,000 tons for an increase of 2s.

COAL OUTPUT

London, October 1.—The weekly statistics of the coal output of the United Kingdom for this year up to August 28 issued today by the Board of Trade show that on no fewer than 24 occasions did the weekly output exceed the amount necessary to produce a yearly output of 252,000,000 tons (242,000,000 tons?)—the datum line suggested by the coal-owners. The highest weekly output was 4,839,644 tons for the week ended April 24.

The coal negotiating committee has failed to agree owing to the miners' insistence on their demand for a 2/- increase of wages, whatever may be the output. The Coal Conference has therefore adjourned in order to enable the miners' representatives to attend a meeting of the miners' delegate conference to decide whether the strike will be further postponed.

CONFERENCE MEETS

London, October 2.—The conference between representatives of the coal miners, the mine-owners and the government opened this morning with the remark from Mr. Smillie to Mr. Lloyd George that "the scene was almost like three dogs quarreling over a bone with a bit of flesh on it, and it would seem as if the two best fed dogs were combining against the unfortunate dog that requires the meat most."

Mr. Hodges then recapitulated the miners' arguments for the datum line which they submitted. He pointed out that the starting point of the difference between the miners and owners was that the miners were asking for a 2s. advance now, and from July 4 on the basis of the September output.

The Prime Minister, who followed, said he could not see any advance upon the original position taken up by the miners' executive, and the position taken up by Mr. Hodges was not very promising. Recurring to Mr. Smillie's reference to the three dogs, Mr. Lloyd George remarked that there was another dog, whom the Government represented, and that was the general public, who would, he said, "Get very little meat and hardly a bone if a struggle took place."

PREMIER IN APPEAL

The Premier then went on to appeal to the two parties to come to closer grips with the figures on which they differed. He suggested that it was impossible for a large assembly to discuss figures, and he therefore proposed the appointment of a small joint committee to explore the matter.

The mine-owners and miners agreed, and a committee of eight was then formed.

After a meeting of this committee, the Coal Conference reassembled, when Mr. Evan Williams, on behalf of the owners, announced that they had failed to find any ground on which they could join in a recommendation to the Prime Minister.

The owners, he said, found themselves up against the same difficulty that they had from the beginning, viz., the demand for an immediate advance of 2s. a day. The owners were exceeding-

German Ambassador Gives Promise That Government Will Keep Its Word

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Sept. 29 (delayed).—At a reception, which took place this afternoon at the Presidential Palace, the Diplomatic Corps presented its congratulations to M. Millerand upon his election. The Premier, M. Leygues, was present.

The Italian Ambassador, speaking as Doyen of the Diplomatic Corps, declared that all friends of France joined in the unanimous satisfaction of the French people at M. Millerand's election.

"M. Millerand," he added, "is amongst the most energetic of those engaged in the reconstruction of the world which promises to be a glorious phase of civilisation."

The President, replying, said that such a heavy task needed the co-operation of everyone. The world's peace was based on respect for natural rights and international agreement. France was convinced that the scrupulous execution of the Peace Treaties was the best guarantee of international order and peace.

M. Millerand this morning received the German Ambassador in private audience, when the latter presented his credentials. The Ambassador expressed his readiness in accordance with the wishes of his Government to devote all his efforts to the development of friendly intercourse between Germany and France on the basis of the Treaty of Versailles.

Rome, Sept. 30 (delayed).—The Cabinet has decided to restore to its previous owners all minor German-owned property, with the exception of money, up to a present value of 50,000 lire in each case.

JAPANESE SEEK DOMINATION OF C. E. RAIL LINE ALLIES' FINDING

Mission Makes Report Of Conditions In Siberia And Manchuria

Nipponese Have Made Free With Company Property, Washington Told

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, October 2.—Evidence of Japanese desire for the complete domination of the Chinese Eastern railway has been reported to the Chinese Government, in a recent memorandum of the international commission of inquiry which was sent to Manchuria and Siberia.

This commission, which comprised American, French and British representatives, declared that evidence had been collected regarding bandit raids in the vicinity of the railway, which spans the Chinese provence of Manchuria, from which it was plain that certain bands were armed with Japanese guns, and that foreign influence was exercised in favor of the bandits.

It was evident, said the memorandum, that the purpose was to destroy Chinese authority.

The report further declared that the Japanese neglected the occasion to intervene, and keep watch over the traffic carried over the railway, and that the Japanese have been installing themselves on ground and in buildings belonging to the company.

DEAL WITH BANK

Peking, Oct. 4.—A railway agreement was initialled on Saturday evening between the Chinese Government and the Russo-Asiatic Bank, whereby the Bank continues to function as the financial instrument of the Chinese Eastern Railway in accordance with the agreement of 1896 on a purely commercial basis and the status of that Railway is clearly defined. The agreement is provisional pending the constitution of a recognised Russian Government.

The Chinese will participate equitably in the working of the Railway, China's political control of the Chinese Eastern Railway zone being recognised, while the Bank is described as a Russian limited company without any political character. Russians and Chinese will be employed equally in the chief posts in the traffic, construction and clerical departments of the Railway and the Board will consist of five Chinese and five Russians with a Chinese President, who will have

FRANCE DENYS BOLSHEVISM AS ENGLAND ALSO TAKES ACTION

General Labor Confederation At Orleans Controlled By Moderates

(Reuter's Service)

Orleans, October 1.—At the annual congress of the French General Confederation of Labor, the extremists met with a heavy defeat when a resolution was adopted by 1,482 votes to 691, declaring that as regarded important decisions Labor would in future adhere to economic questions, and refuse to embark on political fights. The Congress has been sitting for a week past.

The French Bolsheviks have made various determined efforts to commit the Confederation to a policy of "direct action," but the result of the above vote shows that Labor has learned a stern lesson from the recent railway strike.

EXTREMISTS DEFEATED

The vote in effect puts an end to the hopes of the extremists as to French adhesion to Lenin's "third Internationale," and marks the triumphs of the moderates.

London, October 1.—According to the Times, it has transpired that the Bolshevist subsidy to the Daily Herald is only one section of the Soviet propaganda, and that funds amounting altogether to £160,000 of Russian money have been spent in Great Britain since the beginning of this year.

Bolshevist agents, it is stated, are now appointing special district agents in all parts of the country at salaries of from £6 to £10 a week.

OFFICERS PARADE

These agents are employed to convert trade unions and distribute wholesale millions of copies of "Red" leaflets, while all over the Midlands they are to be found in public houses, etc., delivering impromptu lectures, extolling the blessings of the Soviet regime.

There is, however, a movement in a contrary direction. A procession of well-dressed men and women, including one General, two Colonels and a number of ex-officers, carrying sandwich-boards, yesterday paraded the Strand district of London, advertising the Middle Classes' Union.

The sandwich-boards bore vigorous protests against profiteering and Bolshevik extremists. The Times declares that the procession everywhere achieved its purpose, and enlisted much sympathy.

NO BOLSHEVISM HERE

Washington, October 3.—Mr. Wellington Koo, the Chinese Minister, has made a statement on the subject of Russo-Chinese relations, in which he says that the Chinese Government has not accepted any offers from the Soviet Government because it does not wish to depart from the policy of acting in perfect accord with the United States and other Allied Governments. He considers that there is less danger of Bolshevism in China than in almost any other country.

Mr. Koo added that the recent suspension of the recognition of former Russian officials was not connected with the Soviet proposals, to which China has not replied. The object was merely to suspend the special political privileges which these officers exercised, and to prevent Russians from carrying on their quarrels on Chinese soil.

The restoration of these privileges will be taken up later with a responsible Russian Government.

(Reuter's Service)

Los Angeles, Sept. 30 (delayed).—A naval dirigible, whilst flying to San Pedro to take part in the fleet maneuvers, lost its way in a dense fog and crashed into a mountain peak, upsetting the car and precipitating its crew of five 200 feet down the Laurel Canyon. Four of the crew were injured.

AMERICANS TAKE OVER ZEPPELIN WORKS, IS RUMOR

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 1.—It is stated that the Zeppelin works in Germany are being transferred to the United States where a scheme for building super-dirigibles for the Atlantic freight and passenger service will be begun.

It will be remembered that the Peace Treaty forbade Germany to manufacture Zeppelins.

The American capitalists concerned are embarking on a plan to give America supremacy in the air.

Two Million Loss In Galveston Fire

(Reuter's Service)

Galveston, October 2.—The fire which (as already reported) broke out on one of the piers early today, is believed to have been due to spontaneous combustion. Fifteen thousand bales of sisal, 30,000 bundles of cotton ties, 100 bales of cotton and a quantity of sugar and other commodities have been destroyed.

The damage caused by the fire is now estimated at $2,000,000.

SOLDIERS IN REVOLT AND WORKERS ON STRIKE MOVE

Large Meetings Held To Demand Peace And Men Who Led Crowds Are Sent To Face Firing Squad

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 2.—Reports from widely different sources, but all inclining to the same point of view, are seriously raising the question whether the Soviet regime in Russia is not on the verge of collapse.

Two hundred French prisoners who have just arrived in France from Moscow bring the significant report that present conditions cannot last much longer, and that the conclusion of peace will probably cause the collapse of Bolshevism.

Moreover the latest account from Marva, 100 miles west of Petrograd, states that the employes on the Northwestern Railway have struck work.

Serious disturbances have occurred at the Semenov factories, in which two commissaries were killed, while the workmen in nearly all the factories in Petrograd are on strike, ostensibly on account of the high price of bread, but really with the object of overthrowing the Soviet regime.

ARMY DISRUPTED

Meanwhile disaffection is widespread in the western army, where large meetings are being held to demand peace, similar to those which helped to bring about the downfall of the Kerensky regime. Twelve soldier delegates who went to Moscow to urge peace have been summarily shot.

Reports from Moscow declare that consternation reigns in Government circles, and Gen. Budienny is to be court-martialled.

M. Kameneff has been received with disfavor by the Council of Five, owing to his having withheld in London a number of Russian peace terms.

TROTSKY WOUNDED, REPORT

London, Oct. 3.—The French Foreign Office attributes the greatest importance to the reported disorders in Russia, and their semi-official communiques indicate that the Soviet regime is exposed to the most serious danger it has yet experienced.

Gen. Brussilof, on behalf of the Soviet Government, is calling on former Czarist officers to rally to the red army.

Massacres of commissaries attached to the armies are occurring daily, and 200 of them have sought refuge in Germany, including the notorious "Hangman Peters."

It is reported that Trotsky has been wounded in a street conflict.

Meanwhile Gen. Wrangel is gaining fresh successes in the south, owing to his policy of granting title deeds to land.

Gen. Wrangel recently surrounded a force of Soviet cavalry in the Volnovaka district (north of Mariupol), 1,100 prisoners being counted, and has captured the ports of Nogaisk and Berdiansk on the Sea of Azoff.

MAKHNO JOINS WRANGEL

Gen. Makhno, the Russian peasant leader, who has thrown in his lot with Gen. Wrangel, announces the capture of Mareia, in the Donetz valley, and the annihilation of a Red division.

Paris, October 2.—The latest communique issued by General Wrangel claims that the Reds in the Alexandrovsk region have been "annihilated" on a front of 200 versts and the 10,000 prisoners and huge booty have been captured.

Washington, October 2.—The United States Government has opened "information negotiations" with certain unnamed Powers which are contemplating concerted action in opposition to China's acceptance of Bolshevik proposals to renounce the foreign concessions in China.

Carson Attacks Grey's Proposal That Ireland Be Allowed Dominion

Ulster Leader Says Home Rule Bill, Of Which He Does Not Approve, Is Preferable To Newest Plan Offered

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 2.—Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, replying to Lord Grey's recent proposals for bringing about a settlement of the Irish question, contends that, to put the matter bluntly, these would mean to abandon all loyalists to the Crown, and to leave them under the mercies of Sinn Feinism, while they would allow the Irish to murder each other and exhaust themselves in slaughter. He asks whether the murder of British officers in India and Egypt is to have the same result as it has in Ireland.

Sir Edward declares that, while Ulster does not want the Home Rule Bill, it is far preferable to Lord Grey's proposal. Therefore Ulster is ready to receive and work the bill, which the Government has given its pledge to place on the statute book. He does not doubt that this pledge will be kept.

"HOPELESS SUGGESTION"

As regards Lord Grey's scheme, he says that "a more hopeless suggestion never emanated from the brain of a statesmen," and adds that the next step would be to allow an Irish republic.

London, October 1.—During the past few days no material change has been reported in the condition of the Lord Mayor of Cork.

New York, Oct. 2.—Miss Annie MacSweeney, sister of the Lord Mayor of Cook, has made a statement to the London correspondent of the Associated Press, to the effect that Dr. Norman Moore, a specialist, has examined her brother thoroughly, and said that he did not consider Mr. MacSweeney in immediate danger of death.

MORE REPRISALS

London, October 2.—It is reported that the murder of Inspector Brady of the R. I. C. yesterday at Tubbercurry, County Sligo, was quickly followed by reprisals. Four houses and two creameries were destroyed and fourteen houses damaged by bombs and rifle fire. Sinn Feiners fired on the police reinforcements.

Inspector Brady, who was twenty-one years of age, was the nephew of Mr. P. J. Brady, M. P. for the St. Stephen's Green division of Dublin from 1910-1913. He served during the war in the Irish Guards and acted as King's Messenger, carrying Field-Marshal Earl Haig's despatches. His party was ambushed by men, lying in wait by the roadside behind a loopholed wall. Expanding bullets were used in the attack.

CONDEMN REVENGE

London, Sept. 30.—Reuter is informed that the Government absolutely condemns the policy of reprisals in Ireland.

General Sir Nevil Macready, Commander-in-Chief in Ireland, is taking steps to prevent reprisals on the part of the troops, while

Poles And Lithuanians Decide On Armistice, Is Report Believed Official

Situation Regarded As Critical Between Russian Forces And Foes But Views Differ As To Outcome

(Reuter's Service)

New York, October 3.—An Associated Press message from Riga reports that the Poles have come to an agreement with Lithuania at Suwalki for the temporary cessation of military operations. The report is accepted as official.

London, October 1.—The latest Polish victory has again brought the military situation into a state of absolute flux. The last phase of the war closed after the Reds behind the River Bug and pressed out of the triangle between the Vistula and German East Prussia.

Trotsky, considering that he was not yet beaten, concentrated 30,000 troops, including reserves from Petrograd and two divisions from Siberia, in the triangle between Grodno, Lida and Vilna, covered by a curtain of Lithuanian troops.

CAVALRY ADVANCES

Simultaneously General Budienny's cavalry advanced on Lemberg. After the Poles had dissolved the latter, they struck in the direction of Grodno by outflanking that town from the north-east.

With the capture of Grodno and Rovno, the Poles secured a line, which was regarded as guaranteeing them against a new attack in the spring but the latest news indicates that Marshal Pilsudski, who is advancing very rapidly, his cavalry being only two days march from Vilna, is determined to wipe out the Reds' successes in the summer and to re-establish the Beresina-Dnieper line, which he held last spring.

If Vilna falls, a Polish occupation of Minsk may be expected for at least for the present, Bolshevik resistance appears once more to have collapsed.

WRANGEL'S SUCCESSES

Constantinople, October 1.—A communique, issued by General Wrangel's headquarters, states: We have completely destroyed several Bolshevik divisions in the region of Alexandrovsk and have surrounded the Red forces in the neighborhood of Verthoyetsk and Orishkoff, capturing 10,000 prisoners and an enormous amount of war material.

TOWNS ARE CAPTURED

London, October 1.—The Times publishes a telegram from Warsaw, stating that the Poles have captured Slonim and Pinsk and that the Reds are in rapid retreat in the direction of Molodetchno. The capture of Pinsk is very important.

It was a brilliant affair, in which the Poles caught practically the whole headquarters staff of the 4th Red Army.

India Safe From Reds Attack, Declares Times

(Reuter's Service)

London, October 1.—The Times, in a leading article, points out that as regards the recurring Bolshevik threats against India, their leaders have yet got to learn the first elements of military topography. They will find it difficult to arouse alarm in Great Britain on the score of Soviet aspirations in Asia.

The developments of modern warfare, with the huge amount of transport which it involves, has made the invasion of India from the north-west impossible without the aid of efficient railways, and unless the India defenses collapse internally.

Furthermore, the Bolshevik armies, although numerically strong, are unwilling to engage in hard fighting; consequently, the British authorities are not perturbed at the repeated announcements about Gen. Kuropatkin having been appointed Generalissimo in Central Asia.

CAPTURE OF BOKHARA

It took the Reds two years to capture Bokhara with the aid of the railway, but they now find confronting them the route to the south over desolate, waterless wastes without railways.

The Bolsheviks, moreover, have committed the folly of overthrowing a practically independent Mussulman State, and have thus finally alienated the Afghans.

But both in Great Britain and Asia the reds potent weapon is propaganda. Allied to secret bribery to meet this, the Indian Government has begun to take preventive measures, and has made the possession of Bolshevik money illegal. In this connection, adds the Times, the Indian authorities have shown more shrewdness and foresight than Downing Street.

London, Oct. 1.—The real aims of the Soviet in regard to India and Afghanistan have had much light thrown upon them by news which has reached London via the Caucasus giving the actual proposals which Soviet representatives have submitted to the Afghanistan Government at Kabul.

AGREEMENT OFFERED

Recently, it appears, the Bolshevik envoy there was authorised to propose to the Amir a formal agreement, in which the Soviet undertook to give Afghanistan considerable military and financial assistance, demanding in return facilities for transporting rifles and ammunition to the tribes on the northwest frontier of India.

The Soviet also stipulated for agents to manufacture propaganda unmolested and to pass freely with it into India, and further demanded the right to establish representatives at such places as might be selected and a written pledge from the Amir not to conclude any treaty or agreement with any State other than Bolshevik Russia without the latter's prior consent.

The last stipulation was doubtless intended to make abortive any negotiations between Afghanistan and India, or to entrap the Amir into the betrayal of Bokhara; whose overthrow the Bolsheviks have since accomplished.

TERRITORIAL FORCE

London, October 1.—The creation of an Indian Territorial Force as a measure of education is recommended by the Committee, presided over by Viscount Esher, which was appoined by the India Office to enquire into the administration and organisation of the Indian Army.

The Committee does not think that this would impair the efficiency of the Regular Army or recruitment to it.

The report states that the new force ought to be co-ordinated with the Regular Army and enlistment should be voluntary between the ages of 18 and 30 for a period of four years with liability to general service in India.

It is suggested that twelve units should be started, four of which should be exclusively University corps and four University and general corps.

Sir Umar Hayat Khan, one of the Indian representatives on the Committee, in his comments, advocated drastic action against all agitators, attempting to spread disaffection. He favored their rigorous exclusion from cantonments or districts where their activities would be likely to cause possible contamination.

BRUSILOFF'S VIEW

(Russia News Agency)

Moscow, September 29.—In an interview, published in the Red Paper, General Brusiloff, says: "The necessity of defeating the Poles is clearly seen by all those who understand the real aim of our offensive. It is for the Red army to carry out this task. The ingenuous bourgeoise think that Poland is helping them to regain their land, money, property, etc. If this be the object of the Poles, they would never trade with Denikin and other commanders who are anxious to get compensation for their participation in the war, but would join together in an offensive.

"NOT TRUE ALLY"

"Wrangel, with the remainder of the army which he has at his disposal, cannot be considered as a true ally of Poland."

"I like the Polish people," added General Brusiloff, "but we cannot allow them to enslave the Russian peasants, just as we cannot follow their principle that a nation must be conquered in order to maintain its own destiny."

General Brusiloff further stated that as a result of his appeal to the officers, many of them have expressed willingness to fight Poland. The decree issued by the Soviet pardoning the White officers provided they will fight in the ranks of the Red army against Poland is considered by him as of great importance.

Warsaw, Oct. 2.—The following communique is issued today: "We are continuing the pursuit of the Bolshevik divisions, beaten at Lida. The 2nd, Polish army has taken 30,000 prisoners and 100 guns. All action has been suspended in the region of Suwalki as a result of the agreement, reached with Lithuania.

New York, Sept. 30.—The Washington correspondent of the Associated Press confirms the report that the appointment of a Canadian Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States has been indefinitely postponed.

The correspondent remarks:

"One element which has been considered in connection with direct representation (of Canada) in Washington is that Australia, South Africa and other British Colonies and Dominions might desire similar representation."

"It is a fact," adds the correspondent, "that there was a movement in some Colonies for such representation, and the British Foreign Office is said to have taken the view that inefficiency might result from having several Colonial Ministers at Washington."

Light Houses Plan For Railway Signals

(U. S. Naval Radio)

Cheyenne, October 1.—A State Commission is considering a proposal to ensure greater safety on railways by the installation throughout Wyoming of what are described as "baby light-houses," which will flash out warning lights 45 times a minute at railway crossings and approaches to curves and steep grades. It is proposed to have red lights at crossings and yellow lights at curves, the lights to be visible at a distance of 800 feet.

JAP MINISTER OPPOSES CHINA FAMINE SURTAX

Other Ministers Support Proposal; Matter Is Discussed In Tokio

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, October 4.—The Japanese Minister, Mr. Obata, yesterday expressed opposition against the proposal of China to increase temporarily the import duty from five to 10 percent, which was submitted to the Diplomatic Body, with the view of raising the local famine relief loan to be secured by the increased revenue. Mr. Obata stated that Japan, being the principal exporter of goods to China, would bear the heaviest burden of the extra tax.

The other ministers, however, supporting the tax, maintained that it is the consumer and not the exporter who would be the bearer of the burden. Mr. Obata is firm in his purpose to have the proposition killed.

The Chinese Government, has instructed the Chinese Charge D'Affaires in Tokio to take up the question of temporary increase of customs duties with the Japanese Government. It states that this is the only measure by which an adequate loan for the famine relief may be secured at once.

Great Britain First To Submit Treaties To Nations' League

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 1.—Great Britain has lodged with the League of Nations, for entry in a gigantic register, the 16 international agreements which she has concluded since the ratification of peace. These agreements include the engagements of the Empire as a whole, and specific agreements of South Africa, India and Canada, covering widely different subjects.

Lord Curzon has intimated to the League that all future international engagements concluded by Great Britain will be similarly submitted.

Other Governments have also submitted treaties, and Peru with engaging frankness, not only filed those she has contracted since her entry into the League, but all that are binding upon her, regardless of date.

Peking, Oct. 3.—In connection with the closing of the Russian Courts in Manchuria, the President has despatched Chang Yi-peng, Vice-Minister of Justice, to Northern Manchuria to supervise the closing of the Courts and to make the necessary arrangements for the trial of Russian cases.

The Minister of Communications has appointed a special commission to study matters relating to the Chinese Eastern Railway.

Letter From Famine Belt Is Cry For Aid To Save Chinese Who Are Starving

Message From Canadian Presbyterian Mission In Honan Describes Terrible Conditions Confronting Whole Populations

Some intimate facts concerning conditions in the vast famine belt in the northern provinces are given in a letter that has been received by Mrs. D. MacGillivray from Mrs. J. Goforth, a member of the Canadian Presbyterian Mission in Honan, which is located in the center of the famine region.

The letter tells graphically how great the immediate need is and carries a moving appeal that aid may be forthcoming without delay. The letter is as follows:

"My husband and I have just returned from meeting in Conference with the missionaries of the North Honan Mission. The facts we have heard regarding the Great Famine (it is said to be the greatest in memory of living Chinese) simply appals one.

"We cannot but believe, in spite of the incessant and great calls for help made these last few years, that this cry which is the life and death cry of forty millions of the human race, will reach and touch the hearts of multitudes the world over.

FACTS OUTLINED

"The following are the facts as concisely as I am able to give them.

"The famine area is about forty thousand square miles. When in the spring and early summer the early rains failed the people kept hoping against hope for the later rains of July. But these, too, completely failed. The people became panic-stricken and well they might. Whole regions became as a desert—not a blade of grass or sign of living green.

"Farmers of property who had grain to spare were forced by starving neighbors to give out the grain, till now even the formerly wealthy landowners are facing starvation with their poorer neighbors. Large numbers began trekking westward over mountainous roads towards Shansi, hearing of good crops in the western part of that province. The first ones safely passed the mountain barriers, but when famine conditions began to be felt in Eastern Shansi orders were given for soldiers to hold the passes and drive the Honan refugees back. The starving people were not allowed into the villages nor were they even permitted to sleep in the wayside temples. Many lost heart and died by the roadside.

REES REFUGEES

"One of our missionaries went to the Mission gate after supper one evening and before dark had counted over five hundred refugees fleeing westward.

"We were told of girls being tied to trees by their parents to keep them from following, and left to starve. Of children being thrown into the river, of husbands poisoning their wives and children to spare them suffering. Many of the awful details cannot be given, only sufficient to make us realise a little what grim, relentless, awful famine is. Even the crows and jackdaws have left some regions. It is estimated that at least 40,000 Christians are among the famine sufferers.

CENTER OF REGION

"The Canadian Presbyterian Mission of North Honan is practically in the center of the Famine region. Among the brief notes taken from the address of one of our missionaries were the following:

"The situation is appalling." "A superhuman, stupendous task lies before us." "Something must be done immediately to save the lives of our Christians and others."

"It means for the time being the break up of the Church." "Absolute starvation practically everywhere." "Only a remnant of Christians left." Much time was spent in discussing ways and means of relieving the terrible situation. Among them were the following: 1. Special schools to be opened for young people. 2. Orphanges. Supplying seed wheat. 4. Aid for boys and girls now in school, and for new pupils. 5. Assistance for Evangelists. 6. Industrial Schools. 7. Erection of Mission Buildings. 8. Irrigation work. 9. Road building.

"The chief point urged however was the desperate need for funds Now At Once—to relieve those who would otherwise die, and to buy seed wheat for the time for sowing will soon be past. If the grain is not sown a harvest can not be reaped next June; but even sown now and reaped then it means nine months of feeding forty millions. The minimum amount one can allow per head to keep body and soul together is one dollar a month. It means therefore that hundreds of millions of dollars must come in from outside sources during the next few months or multitudes must perish. Imagine the task of feeding or relieving a population as great as Canada's multiplied by four!

LARGE SUMS GIVEN

"The Chinese are coming forward with large sums. Committees are being formed on which Chinese and Foreigners will work together. The area is so great, the people so scattered, the situation so desperate that the task of Famine Relief will be most difficult and dangerous. Hundreds of missionaries, converts, government officials and others will be in imminent peril carrying on the Relief Work this winter; for death lurks everywhere with Famine fever, and typhus is always met in the wake of famine.

"Never has there been a more wonderful opportunity of showing to the Chinese people the reality of our Christian Message in its Love and Compassion.

"Reader, whoever you are, help us! Send to the extent of your really denying yourself something."

PEOPLE OF AUSTRALIA SENDING SUBSCRIPTION

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 1.—The Chinese Consul-General at Melbourne telegraphs: "The people of Australia, white as well as Chinese, are showing sincere sympathy in the famine in China and a substantial subscription will shortly be forwarded to Peking."

The Government has instructed Dr. Wellington Koo to communicate with the Siems Carey Co. with a view to the early construction of the Chow Chinlieh Railway as a means of employing famine labor.

UNIVERSITY CLUB HAS BIG PROGRAM FOR THIS WINTER

A program of activities of the American University Club for the rest of the year was mapped out at the meeting of the executive committee yesterday at the Union Club. Besides the tiffin tomorrow at the Carlton Cafe in honor of Dr. Charles D. Tenney, Charge D'Affaires of the American Legation in Peking, the committee decided to hold a dinner and dance in the middle of November and the annual banquet and election at the club new headquarters in the middle of December.

Tomorrow's program will consist of remarks from the president of the club, Mr. Tong Shao-yi; a speech by Dr. Tenney and a short address by Dr. C. T. Wang, who was for some time a student of Dr. Tenney.

A committee, consisting of Mr. Don D. Patterson, Mr. H. E. Marsden and Mr. Jabin Hsu, was appointed to be in charge of the dinner-dance.

An effort will be made to bring down Dr. John Dewey of the Peking Government University and Mr. Chang Pao-ling of the Nankai College, Tientsin, to address the annual general meeting and election in December.

New Delay For Strike Is Granted By Miners

ly anxious that an increase in wages should be given as early as possible, but were agreed that it must be an increase justified by a clear indication of an increase in output actually materialising.

STAND OF OWNERS

The owners firmly believed that they would achieve results far more effectively by making the increase in wages conditional upon evidence of increase of output, than by making the increase in wages a preliminary to an increase in output.

Mr. Lloyd George remarked that he did not know what the Government could usefully say after the experts on both sides had failed to come to an agreement. The Government was concerned for the whole industry, but was naturally more concerned for the general public.

The Premier pointed out that the depreciation of the sovereign was largely due to the fact that until we made our imports and exports balance we were not in the same position as we otherwise should have been in the trading markets of the world. The high cost of food was attributable largely to the fact that we had not been able to keep our exports up to the pre-war figures. No settlement by the Coal Conference would, he said, give greater satisfaction to the general public than one based on increased output.

The Premier, in conclusion, asked the Miners' Federation to pursue the path of peace at the delegate meeting.

Mr. Smillie said he did not think there would be any use in meeting the mine-owners again, and the Executive would go to the delegates' conference and report on the position.

The Congress then adjourned.

London, October 1.—The conference today between the miners and mineowners and the Government resulted in the two former parties appointing, at the suggestion of the Premier, a joint committee which will endeavor to reconcile the conflicting figures with regard to the datum line.

OUTPUT INCREASED

Paris, October 2.—A representative of the Ministry of Labor of Saxony states that the output of coal from the mines in Saxony has increased, while it is stated that the daily output of the coal mines in the Ruhr basin has increased from 246,000 tons in June, 1919 to 342,000 tons in September, 1920.

These figures are taken as showing that Germany can deliver the coal stipulated in the Spa agreement without difficulty.

ELEVENTH HOUR EFFORT

London, October 1.—Another eleventh-hour effort to avert a coal strike is being made today, when representatives of the miners will meet Mr. Lloyd George, Sir Robert Horne, and others.

The owners' datum line (above which wages will be increased commensurately with the output) is 242,000,000 tons, while that of the miners is 234,000,000. Today the Government will endeavor to persuade the former to reduce and the latter to increase their respective figures so as to enable the miners' executive to go to the adjourned delegates' conference with a concrete proposal.

Meanwhile, the week's delay has enabled numbers of industries and householders to increase their stocks of coal.

Yesterday evening one of the leaders of the Northern miners declared that the Government had three months' reserves of coal available in the event of a strike.

CAUSE OF DEADLOCK

London, October 1.—Particulars of the alternative schemes, put forward by the coal-owners and miners respectively, over which the deadlock arose, show that the owners offered a 1/- per shift increase if out-put was at a rate of 242,000,000 tons a year during October, 2/- if the output was 250,000,000 tons and, if it was 260,000,000 tons, 3/-, beginning from October 1.

According to this scheme adjustments would be made every four weeks in relation to output. The owners suggested a percentage instead of a flat rate and rate advances.

The Miners' Executive counter-scheme agreed to the owners' suggestion to establish national and district committees in order to obtain increased output, pending which the miners agreed to the principle of a datum line. The miners proposed that the output for the current September quarter should be the datum line for the present 2/- claim, which would date from July 14.

AS TO TONNAGE

They proposed that, if the tonnage in October yielded a rate of 244,000,000 tons annually, an additional 6d. per shift should be payable from November 1 and that, if the rate was 248,000,000 tons in any succeeding month, then an additional 6d. daily should be payable.

Both parties agreed that the "output bonus," as the owners call it, and the "increases of wages," as the miners describe it, should be payable on the same number of shifts as in the Sankey wage case and should be based upon the existing number of men employed in the mines, and also that the financial period should be an experimental one to December 31, after which date it should be subject to review in the light of the results obtained.

SMUTS OPPOSES SECESSION OF SOUTH AFRICA

General Makes Appeal For Party To Uphold Constitution

(Reuter's Service)

Capetown, October 2.—General Smuts has issued a momentous appeal for the formation of a new moderate party in South Africa with a view to maintaining the Constitution and combatting the movement for the secession of South Africa from the British Commonwealth.

The appeal follows on the failure of the Dutch Congress which it had been hoped would result in the fusion of the Dutch parties, namely, the nationalists, who favor secession, and the Government Party.

General Smuts, in the course of his appeal, describes the Nationalists' secession policy as a breach of good faith and of the understanding under which both European races formed the Union.

He declares that, now the Nationalists have decided to continue propaganda for driving the two European races apart and into ultimate conflict, there is no alternative but for the moderate elements to coalesce to keep the dangers of lawlessness, which are threatening the Old World, in check in South Africa where the position of Europeans as a civilised community is exposed to special dangers.

The prominent members of the Unionist Party welcomed General Smuts' manifesto, They expressed the opinion that a new moderate party would be formed, named the South Africa Party, as a compliment to the Government Party.

(Note: The "South African Party" is the name of the present Government Party, hence its name would be retained.)

TO REPAY MONEY

In accordance with Article 12 of the agreement of 1896, the Chinese original deposit in the Russo-Chinese Bank (which was reduced by approximately a third when the Bank was reconstructed as the Russo-Asiatic Bank) will be repaid to China with interest from the date of the opening of the Railway (in this connection the Russians consider that the Railway was actually opened in 1907 while the Chinese contend that the official opening in 1903 should be taken. This represents the difference between $11,000,000 and $14,000,000 and the point is at present under discussion).

A general meeting of shareholders will be held in Peking this month.

Although no provision has been made in that connection in the agreement, the Bank expects to continue to fly the French flag in China and elsewhere where extra-territoriality exists, as a sign of French protection, though the Russian character of the Bank is unquestioned.

Russian Courts At Harbin Are Intac

CARSON ATTACKS GREY'S PROPOSAL

Major-General Henry Tudor has warned the police against taking part in reprisals, declaring that severe punishment will be meted out in cases where it is proved that policemen took part.

DUBLIN CIRCULAR

London, October 2.—A circular, issued from Dublin Castle to police officials in Ireland says:

"The press reports of reprisals by police and military are generally misleading and often represent acts of justifiable self-defence as reprisals but there are cases where unjustifiable action has undoubtedly been taken and these are being carefully investigated. Meanwhile it is necessary to emphasise that reprisals cannot be countenanced by those in authority.

"The great provocation under which the men suffer, who see their comrades and friends foully murdered, are fully recognised but the police are urged to maintain in spite of provocation the self-control which characterised the force in the past.

"The police exist to restore and maintain order and the destruction of buildings and institutions cannot but impoverish the country and increase want and disorder."

STAND FOR BILL

London, October 3.—The Observer declares that the Government is resolved to adhere to the main feature of the Home Rule Bill, namely the establishment of two parallel legislatures at Dublin and Belfast, linked by a joint Council, and expresses the opinion that the House of Lords in its present mood is likely to wreck the Bill and therefore "it is not impossible," it adds, "that Mr. Balfour will be urged to make a very great sacrifice to patriotism by going to the House of Lords in the interests of the Government's Irish policy."

LIST OF OUTRAGES

London, October 1.—Owing to the impossibility of recording anything resembling a daily total of outrages in Ireland, the following official summary of serious outrages in Ireland since January 1 has been issued and sheds light on the state to which Sinn Feinism has brought this country, so prosperous during the war.

Policemen, killed 110, injured 172.

Military, killed 15, injured 57.

Civilians, killed 26, injured 77.

Barracks, destroyed 503, damaged 156.

Court houses, destroyed 63.

Mails, raided 513.

Coastguard Lighthouses, raided 38.

Raids for arms 2,720.

Two unarmed policemen were shot dead in a public-house at O'Brien's Bridge, County Clare, yesterday.

The innkeeper's daughter, who was supplying them with refreshment, was wounded.

Sinza Firemen Check Bad Blaze In Chapei

Fire that originated in a group of structures near the plant of the Hong Yue Cotton Mill on Markham Road in Chapei spread to adjoining buildings and destroyed about a dozen shops and dwellings and damaged several others before the Sinza Division of the International Settlement Fire Department succeeded in subduing the flames.

The department was called out shortly after midnight yesterday and though the fire was found to be in Chapei the Sinza firemen took over the work of putting out the blaze as it was endangering property within the Settlement and because the Chapei brigade was at work on another fire.

WHEN BABY IS CROSS AND SLEEPLESS

When baby is cross and sleepless there is something wrong and the little one is taking the only means he has of telling it. Under such circumstances the temptation to administer a sleeping draught or opiate of some kind, is often great, but don't do it unless expressly ordered by a competent doctor who has seen the child. Instead give him Baby's Own Tablets, which are guaranteed to contain no opiates; they send the child to sleep simply because they remove the causes of his sleeplessness and make him feel good and comfortable.

"My baby was not feeling well and was cross and troublesome. I gave her several doses of Baby's Own Tablets and they did her so much good that I would not be without them for many times the amount they cost. I strongly advise every mother to give them a fair trial," writes Mrs. F. Emery, of 8 Barclay Place, Grand Rapids, Mich, U.S.A.

Canton, Oct. 3.—The question of the Tuchunship is still unsolved. General Mu Yung-hsien still refuses to transfer his seal or to leave the city without guarantees for the payment of arrears of army pay, amounting to more than $10,000,000 to the Kwangsi troops. The Cantonese claim that they are not responsible for the troops, the number of which would be beyond their means to support.

The Cantonese are pessimistic over the situation and are preparing against looting by the Kwangsi troops. Business has not been resumed and the prices of foodstuffs are rising, in some cases by sixty percent.

CONDUCTED BY DUDLEY BURROWS

ABOLISH NATIONAL BALL LEAGUE DEMAND OF BIG MEN OF AMERICAN GAME

By Dudley Burrows

(Amplified from U. S. Naval Radio Despatch)

President Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox; President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh Pirates; and Manager John J. McGraw of the New York Giants have signed jointly a letter addressed to the owners of the sixteen major league baseball clubs of America, and to dozens of prominent individuals, urging the appointment of a civil tribunal to take the place of the National Baseball Commission, according to wireless advices received today from Chicago by the U. S. naval radio station here, and bearing the date of October 2nd.

The three men recite, in their letter, that the object is to "clean up baseball forever" by taking the game out of the control of men who are financially interested in the various clubs and placing it in the hands of a public tribunal.

The names of Generals John J. Pershing and Leonard Wood, Attorney General Palmer and former Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo have been tentatively suggested for membership on the proposed tribunal.

Eventually, the letter continues, it is hoped to "turn baseball over to the American people, to whom it belongs," taking the ownership of the clubs away from private share-holders and vesting it in a responsible department of the government itself.

The civil tribunal would have "absolute control of organised baseball" up to the time that it was taken out of the hands of private ownership.

FOLLOW EXPOSURES

This move, of course, comes as the direct result of the recent exposures of alleged chicanery on the part of members of the Vernon (Cal.) Pacific Coast League team, who are charged by a fellow-player with having "bought" the 1920 championship of that organisation—and of the indicted White Sox players who are charged with having "sold out" to a clique of professional gamblers in last year's world's series.

The Chicago investigation continues, the radio message indicating that several other White Sox players have been indicted by the Cook County Grand Jury.

MORE CHARGES

For example, under a St. Louis date-line, Eddie Collins, captain of this year's Chicago American team, is quoted as saying that the team's failure to retain the American League championship this year was directly traceable to the efforts—or lack of effort—of two men, whose names he would not mention further than to say that they were "among those already under indictment in Chicago."

Another Chicago radio states that Messrs. Weaver, McMullin and Risberg, members of the 1919 White Sox team which lost to Cincinnati, have "engaged counsel to fight the charges of crookedness in baseball." Weaver was particularly emphatic in stating that he could prove his innocence.

THE "PAY-OFF" MEN

As McMullin and Risberg, according to a previous despatch have been nominated by Outfielder Joe Jackson as the "pay-off" men from whom he and others received the price of their treachery, it is presumed that the above-mentioned trio have been bound over to the courts for trial.

In addition, based upon the scraps of evidence they are reported to have given before the Grand Jury, and wirelessed to this point, it is likely that Pitcher Claude Williams (implicated also by the testimony of Eddie Cicotte), "Happy" Felsch and (possibly) Catcher Ray Schalk face the likelihood of a trial by jury.

A BEAM OF SUNLIGHT

From New York, like a sunbeam through the dark cloud overhanging baseball today comes the somewhat comforting word that Assistant District Attorney Lewis of Kings County (Brooklyn), who has been investigating a charge that the Brooklyn Robins, winners of the National League championship were being tampered with by gamblers, has failed to find any evidence to support the charge.

The Brooklyn players, the message says, have one and all given the investigator satisfactory proof that they have had no dealings with gamblers seeking to persuade them to "throw" this year's world's championship to the Cleveland Indians.

ANTICIPATED VICTORY

Cleveland, by the way, won the American League pennant on October 2 by defeating the Detroit Tigers by a score of 10-1. The result of the race, however, was sufficiently apparent on that date (Saturday last) to enable THE CHINA PRESS to forecast the victory, which it did.

SERIES BEGINS FRIDAY

Allowing Cleveland six days in which to prepare its ball park for the enormous crowds which are expected to assemble from far and near for the first three games of the world's championship, the series will begin (according to latest advices) on Friday next, in the Forest City.

On Tuesday, the 12th the two teams will appear at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, in the first of a series of three games. Following that series, unless one team or the other takes five games of those six, the teams will play alternately in Cleveland and Brooklyn, allowing a day between each game for travelling, until the championship is decided.

(The above information is reprinted at the request of several readers whose dates have become confused by reason of the rearrangements of the original schedule for these games).

A great demand for tickets to the big series is reported from both Cleveland and Brooklyn.

A more complete report of Saturday's game between a pick-up eleven of S. R. C. men and the Shanghai Public School has been received and reads as follows:

This match was played on the S. R. C. ground and resulted in a win for the school. The S. R. C. batted first and were all out for a total of 61.

In rather failing light, the school commenced their innings and rather quickly passed their opponent's score. They were dismissed for a total of 123.

Pirates And Reds Play Triple—Header As Finale

(U. S. Naval Radio)

Cincinnati, October 2.—The Cincinnati Reds and the Pittsburg Pirates hung up a unique "stunt" on the occasion of their final appearances of the season today by playing a "triple-header."

Rather than abandon one of the three games scheduled for them to play, and having one day in which to do it, the management, with the consent of the players, elected to stage one game in the morning and two in the afternoon.

Large crowds attended both sessions and saw the Reds cop two games and the Pirates one.

Breezy California Girl, Wizardess Of The Court, Is Sensation In The East

Winsome Eleanor Tennant Tells Interviewer The Pretty Romance Of Her Love For Tennis And What Has Come Of It

By Katharine D. Gridley

What if your first love was the tennis court and your family disapproved of your courtship at the very beginning, so that you had to slip out the back door at the early age of fourteen to play the game?

"That's what I had to do," said the breezy little Miss Eleanor Tennant, who recently emerged out of the West to run away with all sorts of honors at the Eastern tennis tournaments this year.

"My athletic desires were the distress of my mother," she continued, "and my father, a most conservative Englishman, thought tennis in a private court quite all right, but if I insisted on playing on public courts, just anywhere well—I could use the back door. And I did.

"You see, I'm the youngest of seven, (they say that's lucky) but I happen to be the only one of the seven who couldn't keep her feet properly under the table."

"Miss Tennant looked intently at her trimly clad feet a moment with a mischievous smile, and added, "I just love to put my feet up on the table. And you know what that means in a well-regulated household."

"But when I brought home my first 'tin-medal' my family suddenly made the discovery that tennis playing wasn't so bad after all. I was again allowed to use the front door and I've been using it ever since. No, I don't remember the date of that event. It was a long time ago."

A SPLENDID GIRL

You must not imagine, however, that this boyish, clear-eyed little Westerner, with her slender rhythmical figure is in any danger of falling into the dowager class. She is, instead, a splendid type of the American outdoor girl, and only twenty-five. For there is something typically American and outdoorsy about Miss Tennant, and when one learns that she was a bit of a tomboy in her teens, it seems to fit perfectly into the picture.

"I guess I was tomboyish, in my love of outdoors and tennis," said Miss Tennant, laughing. "It—tennis playing, I mean—is really a grand passion with me, I have always loved it. I had the youthful idea that I could go through high school via the tennis route, limited, but when my family discovered it they put a stop to my adventure. My father didn't think there was any tennis road to learning. I couldn't play for a while after that, and later on when I began to support myself, I could only play on Saturday afternoons. Those were times when I suffered.

LEARNED IN PARKS

"You asked me about my education in tennis? Well, you might say that I am a product of Golden Gate Park, San Francisco. That's where I received my earliest and best training, with the help of Mrs. Fletcher.

"Every California tennis player knows Mrs. Fletcher. She had given up the game herself, but was still an enthusiast, and she spent an endless amount of time showing youthful aspirants how it should be done. She made us realise the true spirit of the game."

Eastern tennis fans will not believe that Miss Tennant needed much teaching to make her realise the spirit of the game. One feels that she has always known it. She's that sort of a girl—a smiling, whistling, enthusiastic winner, also

Basketball

President Charles D. Glauque, of the Shanghai Basketball League, has issued a call to a general meeting of all persons interested in the popular indoor winter sport, to be held in the assembly room of the Chinese "Y" on Friday evening, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

President Glauque announces that there is a plan afoot to start two basketball leagues this Fall, one to be composed of Chinese teams and the other of foreign teams.

"Last year," he writes, "we had a league composed of Chinese and foreign teams together; but this year there are sufficient players to warrant the formation of two separate leagues."

It is probable, Dame Rumor whispers, that the winners in these two leagues, at the end of the playing season next spring, will be brought together in a "whirled series" of games for the championship of Shanghai.

President Glauque is especially anxious that those interested in the formation of a foreign-players' league be present at the meeting on Friday evening next, so that the plans may be approved and work begun as soon as possible.

Hal Chase To Sue League President

San Francisco, Aug. 21.—Hal Chase, former infielder of the New York Giants, will sue William H. McCarthy, president of the Pacific Coast League, for defamation of character, according to a statement made by Chase's attorney, James P. Sex.

Several days ago President McCarthy barred Chase from all Coast League parks because he believed him to be implicated in a baseball "gambling ring" and approaching Charles ("Spider") Baum, pitcher.

Chase has maintained his innocence throughout the entire procedure, and although the former big leaguer was not present at the recent Mission League directors' meeting, his attorney made the statement that Chase would take action in the form of a suit against President McCarthy.

"So Hal Chase is suing me for defamation of character," remarked President McCarthy, when apprised of the facts. "I never knew he possessed such a thing."

POTT DEFEATS WADE AND WINS RIGHT TO CONTEST IN TENNIS SEMI-FINALS

Mr. W. S. A. Pott, St. John's University tennis star, yesterday battled his way into the semifinal round of the 1920 tennis singles tournament of the Shanghai Lawn Tennis Association by defeating Mr. John Wade, a brilliant work man himself, in a postponed match on the courts of the French Club.

Mr. Pott's victory was not won as easily as was to have been expected when the match was abandoned on Saturday with the score standing at one set in favor of Mr. Pott and games 3-all on the second.

Yesterday afternoon, when the pair met to finish their athletic controversy, Mr. Wade exhibited a spectacular brand of tennis at the outset and annexed three games while his opponent, who seemed a trifle unsteady, was securing one.

The result was that "Johnnie," as the genial young broker is known to his intimates, took the set by the same score as he had lost on Saturday, 6-4.

The third set found the two court wizards contesting on fairly even terms, although Mr. Pott seemed to "find himself" with about the same rapidity as Mr. Wade "lost himself" in a maze of delightfully conceived but disappointingly executed smashes into the net or over the border-lines.

Eventually, having given a very convincing exhibition of the "get-them-over" game, coupled with many truly clever shots over, under, around and through his opponent's defences, Mr. Pott annexed the set and match by the same score as that recorded in the other two sets, 6-4.

FINE MATCH TODAY

Today, also on the French Club courts, and the rain-makers being conspicuous by their absence, Mr. H. H. Knowles will open the semi-final round of the tournament against the redoubtable Japanese speed-marvel, Mr. J. Tanaka.

This match—always providing that the weather be fair—will begin at 4:00 p.m., or as close to that hour as possible, and should be productive of some excellent tennis: Mr. Tanaka is picked by the wiseacres to win, but Mr. Knowles' strategic use of the "porridge game," against "pepper," may avail him much.

POTT VERSUS ROBERTS

On Wednesday afternoon (again invoking the benignity of J. Pluvius) Mr. Pott will array himself opposite his fellow St. John's-man, Mr. W. P. Roberts, in a five-set argument over which shall meet the winner of the Tanaka-Knowles match in the championship round of this year's tournament.

Both of these matches are scheduled to begin at 4:00 p.m. and the public, through the courtesy of the French Club and the S. L. T. A., is invited to see them.

FINALS ON SATURDAY

Weather having permitted each of the semi-final matches to be fought to a finish, the championship round will be played on Saturday afternoon next, probably on the "center" court of the Shanghai Country Club, the one really good bit of turf available in the city.

Secretary A. H. George, of the S. L. T. A., stated last evening that he had not yet made definite arrangement for this location, but felt confident that the court would be tendered unless a previous requisition had been honored.

HARD-COURT TOURNEY

Immediately following the S. L. T. A. turf-court championship it is understood that the French Club will sponsor a "hard court" tournament, open to the members of the S. L. T. A. and invitational to others.

This event will probably be staged during the concluding days of the present month. Details will be announced in future issues of THE CHINA PRESS, on this page.

Leonard Will Box Welterweight Champ

(U. S. Naval Radio)

Cleveland, October 2.—The scheduled boxing bout between Benny Leonard, lightweight champion of the world, and Jack Britton, who admits to the same distinction in the welterweight class, has been postponed on account of the severe cold weather.

Leonard and Britton were originally booked to clash in a 15-round bout in this city on the evening of September 30, but the sudden advent of "Kid Boreas," many weeks before he was due, caused an upset.

A new date for the match has not yet been fixed.

Wizardess Of The Court Is Sensation In The East

TAUGHT THE GAME

"Five years ago, when I had the opportunity to live at the Beverly Hills Hotel in California, and teach tennis, I went immediately, for I knew that tennis was life itself to me, and no other work counted. It is interesting to watch girls develop into good tennis players, and I enjoyed teaching. For the last year, however I have been playing, almost exclusively at the Bundy's private courts, in San Francisco.

"We have a number of good tennis players out West, but it was a surprise to me to see how many fine players you have in the East, and their spirit is something to wonder at. In the West, where you might naturally expect more outdoor life, the actual percentage of all-round good players is much smaller than in the East. Out West we'll have one star for each State, perhaps. But here, it seems to me, one city will turn out a dozen almost without thinking."

IS NOT CONCEITED

Then she went on to name a few Western stars and any number of Eastern women whom she considered top-notchers.

"One Westerner, at least," I volunteered, "seems to be putting up a fairly good battle against us.

"Oh, I haven't any idea that I put the salt in the ocean, just because of my few victories. This is my first tournament season in five years, and every moment of it is interesting to me.

"The tournament at Greenwich was the first time I ever played on grass courts in my life. I thought grass was meant for beautiful lawns and not for tennis courts. However, I've learned to like grass courts just as well as clay courts."

One may well believe it, for it was on the Greenwich grass court that Miss Tennant leaped into instant popularity with Eastern tennisdom. Five years ago she took all the honors in the Los Angeles city tournament.

RAN AWAY WITH IT

"I believe I did run away with the Los Angles championship," said Miss Tennant, modestly. "But really and truly it isn't the honors that appeal to me—I simply love the game itself, and the better my opponent plays the better I like it. I could talk for hours about tennis, but is there anything else you want to know about me?"

Yes, there were any number of things. Where was she born? Were there any other athletes in the Tennant family? Had she been in New York before, and how did she like it?

Miss Tennant laughed.

"I'll tell you all about it, but you mustn't print everything I say. I was born in San Francisco, and I'm the only one in the family who enjoys athletics. I weigh 118 pounds, and ride horseback. Two years ago I was in New York, but this is my first real visit to the East. The Easterners certainly know how to entertain, I've been treated royally, and am having a wonderful time."

PRAISES THE EAST

I had heard that California was the real inheritor of the traditions of old fashioned American hospitality, and I intimated as much to Miss Tennant.

"Well, I'm not so sure, when compared with the East," she replied. "Yes, I was in New York two years ago. And let me tell you right here, that it is the only place in U. S. A. where I can get a sane and sensible tennis skirt. I haven't seen the bright lights yet, nor Greenwich Village. I'm saving those for my return trip in September."

New York will be glad to see Miss Tennant again, and as for San Francisco and the Tennant family, well, they certainly will have the front door open for her when she goes back West, and it wouldn't be at all surprising if they got out the awning and the velvet carpet.

Chinese Detectives Make Presents To Departing Officer

Members of the Chinese force of the International Settlement yesterday presented Detective Sergeant H. J. Schmidt, attached to Hongkew Station, with three gold rings and a bolt of fine silk. The rings are for the Sergeant, Mrs. Schmidt and their child. The Schmidts are to depart for Australia on long leave on October 7. The silk is for Mrs. Schmidt, as a special tribute.

Chinese Detective Sergeant Dzak Kyung-yoong made the speech of presentation on behalf of his colleagues in the department.

Surprise Party Held At American School

Sunday was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Beaman at the American school. No one in China knew it, at least so they thought. However when the students and teachers had taken their places at the breakfast table the strains of a wedding march were heard from a piano in a remote part of the dining room. Then through a doorway appeared children bringing flowers and gifts. Soon every table and window seat was decorated and the room was a mass of fragrance.

Mr. Beaman is Business Manager of the American School and Mrs. Beaman is Home Manager, and both are very popular with the students. They were married twenty-five years ago in Ningpo.

They have one daughter Eloise Bliss Beaman, who is now a student in Colby College, Maine.

The Foundations Of Your Home

are your first care, are they not? Shallow, badly constructed foundations result in the appearance of damp, cracks and other unpleasant symptoms after you have taken possession and are comfortably installed in a new home.

HOW ABOUT THE FLOORS

And the interior woodwork? Did you take the same care of them?

Cheap flooring is no economy, especially if you cover it up with expensive carpets. Both will wear out and need renewal—so will cheap panelling.

and oaken interior woodwork is practically indestructible, and will outlast you and those who come after you. Furthermore, the cost of oak flooring is about the same as that of a high-class carpet—Tls. 25 to Tls. 40 per fong (100 sq. feet).

Insist that all lumber for flooring and panelling for interior work bears the "Three Pines" Trade Mark, and the letters "KD" signifying kiln-dried, thus ensuring its perfect quality, and suitability for the severe climatic conditions of China.

We give all orders personal attention. After you have placed your order with us, the flooring will be laid and all work carried out under the personal supervision of a foreign expert of the Company. We prefer to do this for you.

Y.W.C.A. Starts New Year With Larger Departments

Association's Hostel Has Become Mecca For Chinese Women Passing Through City

The Shanghai Young Women's Christian Association located at 11 A. Quinsan road is entering upon its fourth fall season. The beginning of activities after the summer's program points to an enlargement in every department of the organisation. The growth is attributed to the increasing popularity of the local association among Chinese women who are making constant use of the hostel, as they pass to and from the city and who seldom fail to commend its hospitality to their relatives and friends. In a large measure the success is the direct result of the thoughtful and untiring planning of the member of the local board, of which Mrs. S. K. Tsao is president; Mrs. T. T. Wong vice-president; Mrs. T. H. Lee, secretary; and Mrs. S. Y. Lin, treasurer.

The hostel has become a mecca for Chinese women traveling through the city. During the summer months 30 women from various localities made the hostel their abiding place while in Shanghai. The total number of women accommodated during the year was 85. The hostel department sprang into being in Jan., 1916 when the association occupied quarters at 10 West End Lane with living accommodations for three or four women. The demand upon the hostel was so great, however, that the following month the association moved to its present location and opened a large hostel which accommodated about 12 women. This fall the entire upper floor of the building previously occupied by the Training School is given over to the hostel.

Among the present women at the hostel are students, recently returned from European or American educational institutions and students passing through the city on their way to attend schools. In previous years, when there have been Chinese girls taking government college entrance examinations, the students lived in the hostel and took their tests under the supervision of Miss Jane Shaw Ward. There are at the hostel, beside students, Chinese woman who are employed in the city to whom the hostel provides a restful and secluded home where they can live near their work and still come under a home like environment.

At present the hostel accommodates 25 women, a few professional women, students, a nurse, a newspaper woman, and several married women whose husbands have left them in the care of the association while out of the city on extended business trips.

The fall program of study classes is more popular than that of any previous season, and has the largest number of young women enrolled. These classes are conducted by volunteer teachers and members of the staff and comprise instruction in English, French, mathematics and Chinese. The volunteer service which has been generously given by British and American women of the city is gratefully acknowledged by the students themselves, who welcome the contact with outside interests and people, which volunteer teachers are able to give. These are half day classes and are attended by young women members from dignified Chinese families whose household cares or health make it impossible for them to attend full time schools. There are also women who are making up studies which they have lost because of illness and who will resume their regular classes next year. A number of young married women are enrolled. The staff of the local association includes Miss Mary Ting, Miss Jane Shaw Ward, Miss Wei Tsung-be, Mrs. E. S. Yie, Miss Edith O. Sawyer, Miss E. G. Johnston, Mrs. L. S. Woo, Miss Dzing Man-yuin, Miss Tong E. Ling, Mrs. S. L. Wong, Miss Martha Job, Miss Tsang Tshan-bing, and Miss Yoen Pau-tsu.

Under the head of general activities of the Association come several of the most important departments which have developed under the guidance of Miss Johnston and Miss Sawyer. The social service department which organised last spring is the outcome of a suggestion made by Gone of the prominent committee members of the local board of directors. This department, which will conduct a Better Homes Campaign in December, is doing exceedingly constructive work with Chinese mothers who are working out a plan for the care of children. This will be one of the phases of the Better Homes Campaign. The gymnastic training which is carefully planned embodies formal gymnasium classes, folk dancing, tennis, and other out-of-door athletics for which the women have developed a keen enthusiasm.

Neighborhood Bible classes are conducted by members of the staff who have been invited to the homes of several Chinese women where groups of Chinese women meet each week for religious study. These classes are wide in their scope of topics considered, the matter of caring for children, or how to make investments, or multitudinous, other questions being discussed by the women who have placed every confidence in the guidance of their leaders.

The Girl's Clubs are a lively department of the association. Here young girls gather for fun and play, but also aim to accomplish something which will be a service to their country. In each of these clubs the patriotic spirit of the girls is the element which determines activities and policies. Always in expressing the purpose of their club, the girls state that they have organised that together they may study, learn and grow to be useful to their country. An example of the fact that the girls make these patriotic aims and purposes a reality may be seen at the playgrounds where former association girls are now teaching. In every contact which the association makes with the Chinese women is found the firm resolution for patriotic service. Many of the girls now being trained will be the future association committee which will raise the funds for the work and have full charge of its administration—even as the present committee of Chinese women is so ably conducting the departments of the entire association.

BANK STATEMENT ISSUED

A statement just published by the Chekiang Industrial Bank, which has branches at Hangchow, Shanghai, Haimen and Lanchi, shows that gross profits in the institution for the half year that closed June 30 last attained a total of $534,573.26 with general expenditures for the period $413,904.51 which leaves the net profit $120,668.

H. L. Ickes Deserts Harding As 'Unfit'

Ex-Progressive Leader And Illinois Republican Delegate Comes Out For Cox

Chicago, August 18.—Harold L. Ickes, one of the organisers of the Progressive Party in Illinois, who was an Illinois delegate at large to the convention which nominated Senator Harding for President and voted against making the nomination unanimous, announced today that he could not support Harding.

"Holding as I do that my duties and obligations as a citizen are paramount to my duties and obligations as a party man I have concluded to support the Democratic national ticket in this campaign," said Mr. Ickes, in a signed statement. "I shall continue to affiliate with the Republican Party, but I cannot in good conscience support for President a candidate who was not the real choice of his party and whom I regard as unworthy and unfit to be the chief executive of this Nation by the tests of ability, public policies, official record and independence of character.

COMMISSION ON PEACE PACTS TO BE INAUGURATED

Ceremony Takes Place Today Without Waiting For Chairman C. T. Wang

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, October 4.—The Commission for the studying of the peace treaties will be formally inaugurated tomorrow without awaiting for the arrival of Dr. C. T. Wang, chairman of the commission.

The commission has now ten members and will first take up the notorious Japanese 21 demands and the German Treaty of Peace. It will meet twice a week regularly.

General Wu Pei-fu, the idol of the hour, has circularised the North and the South, urging the factions to present a united front in diplomatic affairs and to strengthen China's position among the powers.

The Wine and Tobacco Directorate-General advocates the raising of the import taxes to ten percent and also an improved system of provincial tax collection.

The Central Government has ordered the immediate commencement of work on the Canton-Hankow-Szechuen Railway.

'Y' Seeks Literature For War Prisoners

Literature for ex-prisoners in any amount and kind is requested by the Navy Y. M. C. A. for the 2,200 Austrian, German and Hungarian war prisoners who will arrive here on Friday or Saturday of this week on the Steamship Scharnhorst from Vladivostok and en route to Trieste for repatriation.

Probably one third of the number can read English but books, magazines and papers in German and French are also requested. These men have been prisoners since 1914 and it is anticipate that they will much appreicate all such literature as will bring them in touch with the outside world again.

The Navy Y. M. C. A. will be glad to call for all such material as cannot be conveniently otherwise delivered at No. 6 Avenue Edward VII.

Dr. W. H. Griffith Thomas Ends Series Of Meetings

The meetings held yesterday in the Union Church in connection with the "Day of Prayer and Conference," closing Dr. W. H. Griffith Thomas's series of meetings, were well attended by representative missionaries and a number of laymen.

The address by Dr. Thomas, at 10 o'clock, was intensely interesting and in some respects startling, especially to those who have not been informed as to the real meaning of the modern criticism of the Bible. He gave some instance of this teaching in colleges and seminaries in America, Canada and England, and spoke of some of his personal observations along these lines during his three months' visit in China. Dr. Thomas told of a convention of one of the great denominations held in Detroit, some years ago, in which one of the speakers read a statement, including five points, and then asked this question, "Does this statement accurately represent the attitude of modern higher critics?" to which the late Dr. Harper, president of Chicago University, replied emphatically, "It does." Then the speaker proceeded to show that he had read the quotation from "The Age of Reason" by Thomas Paine. While Dr. Thomas pointed out that all who call themselves higher critics today certainly do not go to this extreme in denying the supernatural in the Bible, he asserted that they were tending in that direction.

The first hour was concluded with several prayers.

MR. TEWKSBURY SPEAKS

During the second hour Mr. Tewksbury, the chairman of the Executive Committee of the Bible Union, which was started at Kuling during the summer, read the "tentative statement" regarding the organisation, (which it was decided at Kuling should be sent to all missionaries in China), and made some explanatory remarks. One of the speakers who took part in the discussion said that he was convinced that the denomination with which he was connected would not approve of some of the teaching that was being given in some of the schools in China which were being supported by his Home Board, and that he felt it was his duty to inform the leading laymen in his denomination in America, and that others should do the same.

DEAN SYMONS HEARD

The afternoon session was opened with a devotional meeting led by Dean Symons, who gave a brief address emphasising the absolute necessity of spiritual life and experience for the proper understanding of the Bible. We are too apt to read it from the intellectual standpoint only, forgetful of the fact that for a true understanding spiritual perception is essential.

The conference hour was opened with an address by Dr. J. Walter Lowrie, Chairman of the China Council of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., who expressed his strong conviction that the time had come to reaffirm the great realities concerning Christ, which are found to the New Testament. Dr. Lowrie frankly confessed his inability to sign the exact statement referred to above, but at the same time expressed his strong and hearty agreement and warm sympathy with its general purpose. He thought that by a change of wording, without weakening the position in the least, it would be possible to include a much larger number of missionaries who are in hearty agreement with the general position for which the Bible Union stands. This cordial and enthusiastic agreement in general was plainly manifested by the tenor of Dr. Lowrie's paper. He pointed out that Christ is much more than a teacher, for as a teacher alone He would be incapable of meeting the needs of China. If Christ is not divine and His death an atonement, He would be incapable of fulfilling the task set before Him.

Jesus of Nazareth had nothing to give up if he had not already given up His divine glory, in coming to earth. Buddha influenced India and China by what he gave up, but Jesus as a mere man would have given up nothing. Dr. Lowrie remarked that his experience of thirty five years in China indicated that the preaching of the full New Testament Christ had been weakened, especially by those teaching that the New Testament is not altogether reliable. In the fourth century, Athanasius met his opponents, who with all their objections did not dare to say that the New Testament was unreliable. It has been left for the twentieth century critics to say this. The exercise of doubt of the New Testament tends to lower the character of the doubter and to unfit him to be a herald. To treat the New Testament as not reliable is like questioning the character of true gentleman, and this hurts the questioner, not the gentleman.

Those who are substituting for salvation from sin, teaching and social welfare are preaching another gospel, which should be declared to be such to an infant church like that of China. What is called "Modernism" is really only a euphonious way of expressing what has always been the enemy of true Christianity—Arianism, Socinianism, and other forms of Latitudinarianism. The entire address was most impressive and forceful and made a deep impression on the hearers, by reason of the manifest stdength of the speaker's convictions and the immense weight of his position in the missionary world.

The conference decided to form a Shanghai committee to consider the best way of giving effect to the principles asserted by Dr. Lowrie, in relation to the New Testament view of Christ and the true position to be taken up toward the Bible.

COLONEL TAKES HIS LIFE

(Reuter's Service)

San Francisco, October 3.—Col. Lea Fabinger, a retired officer of the United States Army, has shot and killed himself. He left a note saying that he was going insane, and that "the blind must have oblivion."

In The U. S. Court For China

The scene of that age-old drama, "When Doctors Disagree," is usually the bedside of a patient, an operating room with the subject mercifully asleep in the arms of Lady Chloroform or Mam'selle Ether.

Yesterday it was the U.S. Court for China, with counsel for the medical firm of Drs. Ransom and Street arrayed against counsel for Dr. Paul Martin in an effort to estop Dr. Martin from practising medicine or surgery within a radius of 100 miles of Shanghai for the next five years.

The case hinges upon the proposals and counter proposals of the plaintiff firm on the one hand, and of Dr. Martin on the other, relative to an association of interests. Numerous documents, ranging from intricate "work sheets" to humble pencilled "chits," and the evidence of Drs. Ransom and Martin, were important features of the trial.

Attorneys Fleming and Bryant, for the plaintiffs, endeavored to prove that Dr. Martin had violated an alleged contract with their clients when he withdrew, after some four months, from an association with them as surgeon.

Attorney Stirling Fessenden, for the defendant, struggled just as valiantly to make plain that no contract existed between his client and the plaintiffs, and that Dr. Martin had a perfect right to withdraw from his association with the other medicos, and establish a practice of his own, at any time he saw fit.

At the end of a long day's legal wrangle over the admissability or inadmissability of the aforementioned documents, spiced by the examinations of Drs. Martin and Ransom and other witnesses, Judge Lobingier called for briefs, to be filed within the next seven days.

"PRICELESS"
is a popular way of describing anything which has proved to be of exceptional value, and may therefore be employed to describe that old and favourite preparation—Beecham's Pills. The ever-increasing army of men and women who have experience of this excellent medicine generally use some such phrase as "priceless" or "Worth a guinea a box" when speaking of Beecham's Pills. This is certainly high praise. But it is well-merited. Beecham's Pills have proved, times out of number, to be a "priceless" preparation in the treatment of digestive ailments. They bring relief; they safeguard the health; they effect remarkable cures. All who suffer in any way from biliousness, sick headache, constipation, impaired appetite, and the resulting loss of energy and want of tone should take

If you use Kolynos Tooth Paste

daily—it is impossible for your teeth to collect "so-called" film or your mouth to become over-acid. We claim no "secret process" with Kolynos. What we do claim is that your teeth under the care of Kolynos will become CLEAN—Just as clean as an ivory knife handle.

WHITE—Just as white as Nature intended them to be. We use no bleaching chemicals.

FREE FROM DECAY—Because a clean tooth does not decay.

Do not be led away by tooth pastes which advertise themselves as "bleachers" or "solvents." Teeth can only be cleaned in the old-time rational way—with a good tooth brush and a sensible tooth paste which cleans and polishes, and leaves your teeth what they should be—just clean.

Don't Be Cross

Do you ever have days when it is difficult to smile—when pleasant words are an effort, and you feel disagreeable and cross?

That is because you are not well. Your liver is clogged and you are poisoned with accumulated waste matter.

Dr. Ross' Life Pills will clean you out and cheer you up. Life will be worth living again if you take this well-known tonic laxative frequently.

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filing with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

The Student And The Famine Relief

(By T. I. Zung, A Student At St. John's University)

THE relief movement that is being conducted by the North Relief Association is one of the most laudable efforts at organised philanthropy which the Shanghai public have ever made. Having for its moving spirits the commercial and industrial magnates of a rich city like ours, the prospects spell hope for the stricken millions of the North. In spite of the investerate imputation of commercial cupidity and vice which has so stained the character of our community, Shanghai is at length proving what generosity she is capable of.

In several respects, the movement is significant. In the first place, it is an organised, co-operative effort—a fact which imparts a new element to the spirit of Chinese philanthropy. In the second place, it serves as an index of the broader type of sympathetic mind it embodies—as distinguished from the provincial and local spirit which limits the activities of the philanthropists of the old school. Behind the energetic exertions of the relief workers, Chinese and foreign, we find patriotism the love of humanity, and genuine Christian spirit.

But while the merchants are driving the campaign with market vigor, the students, who have always been attentive to the welfare of their country, have not, on the present occasion, come to the front with their usual alacrity. Indeed sporadic movements for relief have been started in several schools, some supervised by teachers and others initiated by the students themselves. But the character of such movement and the small scale on which it operates, limit the amount realised to a rather paltry sum. If the students are to make their effort at all felt by the starving mass of the north, they must collectively take concerted action. To this end, the Student Union is the best medium available.

Of course, it is unfair to expect the students to give as much as the merchants, but it is reasonable to expect them to put forth as much effort. During the past year, the public has witnessed dramatic performances and exhibitions conducted by the students for benevolent purposes, and the result, partly due to the delightful touches representative of youthful originality and partly to the charitableness of the public, was usually a pronounced success. And the present famine in the north is certainly as worthy an object for such a performance as its predecessors. The appeal is especially made to girl students, whose natural artistic talent and taste for the picturesque fit them for the peculiar task. McTyeire and St. Mary's students raised splendid sums for their mother schools through their winsome performances during the past summer. When they contemplate that even a stranger—an Irishman—an actor, offered his services at Lyceum to the famine victims gratuitously, they cannot, I think, but feel a burning desire to bring their own ability into play and to emulate the broad-hearted sympathy of an alien benefactor.

We have said that the students will not be able to contribute much. Yet if they are only willing to sustain some self-sacrifice and to institute for themselves an austerer type of self-discipline, they may still raise more for the starving northern people than the amount which they are at present content with giving. Thriftiness is always a good lesson to impress upon the students not to indulge in cynicism—but we think the students of today enjoy too many luxuries. Think of how many famine victims could be clothed with the cost of one suit of fashionable foreign dress! Think of how many could be fed with the cost of titbits and candies consumed by the students of one school in a day! Such and sundry other expenses we can save, without any injury and even with positive good to ourselves.

Our political activities, be they called successful or not, have made their influence felt in our national life; it is now timely for us to betake ourselves to social and philanthropic enterprises with equal enthusiasm. In fact the needs of the present day strongly call us to constructive endeavors along social lines.

Political attempts yield at best slow and intangible results. Shantung, in spite of all the efforts we made on her behalf, is still in abeyance; but for the present relief, we may be assured that every cent will be a substantial aid.

Social undertakings, being of a more permanent character, require a steadier and more constant application of effort. This steadiness and constancy the students lack more than anything else.

The idea that students should keep clear of politics is condemned by all right thinking men. But more absurd it would be to say that students should concern themselves only with the improvement of government and politics, to the exclusion of the betterment of social conditions. Yet if the Student Union, once so active with telegrams and strikes and lectures, should remain silent on this present issue, in which the lives of millions are involved, how else are we to explain of the apparent inconsistency? The Student Union must have been a purely political institution, concerned only with political ends. Now it is whispered that the Union is non-existent. We have to accept either explanation and both are equally to be lamented.

Just as the awarding of Tsingtao to, and direct negotiation on the Shantung question with Japan, jeopardise the future existence of that province as an integral part of our Republic, so does the present calamity threaten the lives of the once strong and sturdy Shantung people. Both mean suffering, and suffering is to be relieved.

Relief can be effected only through sacrifice. We have sacrificed enough time during the past year: we are now called upon to sacrifice our purse with equal generosity.

Bryce On U. S. Treaties

(From Bryce's American Commonwealth, Third Edition, 1896, Vol. I., Page 108)

The Senate may and occasionally does amend a treaty, and return it amended to the President. There is nothing to prevent it from proposing a draft treaty to him, or asking him to prepare one, but this is not the practice. For ratification a vote of two-thirds of the Senators present is required. This gives great power to a vexatious minority and increases the danger, evidenced by several incidents in the history of the Union, that the Senate or a faction in it may deal with foreign policy in a narrow, sectional, electioneering spirit.

When the interest of any group of States is, or is supposed to be, against the making of a given treaty, that treaty may be defeated by the Senators from those States. They tell the other Senators of their own party that the prospects of the party in the district of the country whence they come will be improved if the treaty is rejected and a bold, aggressive line is taken in further negotiations. Some of these Senators, who care more for the party than for justice or the common interests of the country, rally to the cry, and all the more gladly if their party is opposed to the President in power, because in defeating the treaty they humiliate his Administration. Thus the treaty may be rejected and the settlement of the question at issue indefinitely postponed.

It may be thought that a party acting in this vexatious way will suffer in public esteem. This happens in extreme cases; but the public are usually so indifferent to foreign affairs, and so little skilled in judging of them, that offenses of the kind described may be committed with practical impunity. It is harder to fix responsibility on a body of Senators than on the Executive; and whereas the Executive has usually an interest in settling diplomatic troubles, whose continuance it finds annoying, the Senate has no such interest, but is willing to keep them open so long as some political advantage can be sucked out of them. The habit of using foreign policy for electioneering purposes is not confined to America. We have seen it in England, we have seen it in France, we have seen it even in monarchical Germany. But in America the treaty-confirming power of the Senate opens a particularly easy and tempting door to such practices.

LINES FROM LETTERS

Dear Mutt:—Being an honest-to-goodness son of the U.S.A. I am still in full possession of my Extra-territoriality. Try and wind your tongue around that old dear. If you succeed, it is more than you could have done before July 1 of last year.

Extra-territoriality is something—I don't know just what—which has been enjoyed by all foreigners. Now, thanks to Trotski, Lenin and Company, who have been trying to paint the world Red, the Russki Community can no longer claim Extra-territoriality. China gave, and now China taketh away. Why? Well ask me another fool question, insect!

GERMAN MUSIC

I hear that the management that announced its intention of producing a German operette is beginning to quake when it comes to facing the music, and I should not be surprised if the scheme were abandoned. I know art has no nationality, but I am a human little fellow, and after a man has hit me on the head with a thick stick, I want to give the bump time to go down before I feel in the mood to listen to the same fellow playing gentle little love songs on my own piano.

ENGLISH, AS SHE IS SPOKE

Among every body of men following one trade or profession there is in existence number of slang terms. The Army and Navy have their own peculiar vocabularies and in a lesser degree so has each university. An undergraduate in residence at Cambridge never lodges anywhere, he "keeps" either in or out of college. If he "keeps in" his rooms are actually in the college building. If he "keeps out" he occupies one of the many sets of rooms adjacent to the college, which are termed "university lodgings."

All colleges close their gates in term time at ten o'clock. Full term is eight weeks, and there are three terms in the university year; they are the October, Lent and May terms. Any night in term time you may hear people running to "keep a ten." Failure to "keep a twelve" usually means a "hauling" before a tutor and the demanding of an explanation.

A meeting of any society or club is usually termed a "squash." "Hall" is the name given to dinner, which is held in the college dining hall. In most colleges there are two "halls," one for Freshmen, or "Freshers" as they are called, and one to which the dons, graduates and third year men go.

Streets in Cambridge have their own names. King's Parade is abbreviated to "keep." In pre-war days Sidgwick Avenue was called "Sidgers."

Colleges, too, have their own nicknames. Emmanuel is called "Emmer," Pembroke "Pemmer," Peterhouse is called "Pothouse," and Fitzwilliam Hall for non-collegiate students is "Fitzbilly."

The medical dissecting rooms are the "meaters." The naval officers in residence are spoken of as "N.O.'s," and the proctor and his attendants are the "Prog" and "Bullers" or "Bulldogs."

Irish Governing Selves In Spite Of Authority

BY ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT
(New York World)

Dublin, August 5.—Ireland is in a state of active, eruptive revolution. It has passed the stage of mere revolt. It has gone further than ever before, and nearly the whole Irish people is affected.

The revolution is much deeper and more important than the sporadic assassination of police and other British officials indicate. The real revolution is in the minds and hearts of the Irish people, and it has advanced so far that Ireland is all but lost to England. It has reached the point where Ireland can be held within the British Empire only by force.

The British governmental system has broken down in Ireland. It was a Government based upon the police—the Royal Irish Constabulary. They numbered some 12,000, and they were scattered throughout Ireland according to a fixed system that gave them complete control of the island. They were so placed that one could not go ten miles anywhere in Ireland without passing a police barrack. Upon the police the Government depended for everything from the maintaining of order to the collecting of taxes. They were, in short, the Government of Ireland.

ABANDON POLICE BARRACKS

Now they are lost. Their moral influence is gone. No one fears them any more. They have been forced to give up control over vast stretches of country and concentrate in centers where they can by force of numbers protect one another. They have evacuated over 600 barracks and are being compelled to evacuate more every day. I have traveled within the past week in Western Ireland through town after town where the police barracks were evacuated and burned by the local populace to prevent the police from ever coming back. In other places I found the police crowded in their barracks, not daring to go out to perform their ordinary service. They have reached the point where they no longer try to perform their duties unless accompanied by soldiers. Many times I have passed them on the road, a dozen in a motor lorry, each constable brandishing a carbine at the countryside, and accompanied by other lorries carrying soldiers in full campaign kit, also menacing the countryside with their rifles. But, by themselves, they could no longer hold the smallest corner of Ireland, except in the limited area of Ulster. They have lost, what was more important to them then their arms, their moral force. As the representatives of law and order they have ceased to exist. They have become a mere unit in the British expeditionary force in Ireland.

With the police gone, the "castle," the seat of British Government in Ireland, is beleaguered in the heart of Dublin, and Phoenix Park, where the British representatives reside, is guarded like a compound in the midst of an Oriental revolt.

UNARMED POLICE SAFE

And the strangest part of it is that the Irish people go about their affairs as if there were nothing unusual. With very few exceptions any British official, officer or soldier can go anywhere in Ireland in safety as long as he is not armed. I have even seen unarmed police walling along lonely reads in the west. I must admit they were not loitering, but there was little likelihood of their being attacked. For the Volunteers have long ago "got" the individuals in the constabulary they were after.

But let the same men put on their arms they become at once "enemies of the Irish Republic" and they are fair game for any one.

It is a very clever way of carrying on revolution. If Sinn Fein attempted to match its strength against that of the British Empire it would be all over in a week. But Sinn Fein is not stupid. It is acting on the assumption that the Irish people, wishing to establish a republic, have a perfect right to do so. It takes the position that the British are foreign oppressors. To fight them openly is impossible, so they must be got rid of by silent revolt, aided at opportune moments by acts of violence. To kill any British representative as such is to the mind of the Sinn Feiners justifiable, as he represents the oppressing power. And they do kill them, as well as capture their mail and ambush their police whenever it appears good to them so to do.

AVOID OPEN CONFLICT

But open conflict is avoided. Sinn Fein is not risking anything more serious than guerilla warfare. It cannot. It has not the arms. Between the British Government and Sinn Fein there is a contest in endurance. The British hope is to tire out Sinn Fein, and Sinn Fein wants to break the nerve of the British representatives. So far Sinn Fein has the better in this contest. The "Castle" is nervous. Sinn Fein is as cool as a cucumber. It goes along from day to day as if nothing were happening, though police are being killed, the shipment of munitions is being hampered and the authority of the Government is being defied at every turn. But, let the Government or its soldiers take any action in reprisal and a howl goes up that is echoed in the House of Commons, and the "Castle" must go over and explain. The result is that Sinn Fein has the government's goat.

As the police are compelled to evacuate, all fear of and all ment goes with them. Once evacuated, a district is lost to them. They have never succeeded in returning except under the respect for the British Government protection of a considerable armed force. As soon as they go the Volunteers who drove them out take over their duties and police the country with the thoroughness of a new broom. They Volunteers are marvelously disciplined; they are always on hand, cool and efficient, ready for an assassination or the mere maintenance of order.

SINN FEIN COURTS

Working with Volunteers are practically all the local Town and County Councils outside of Ulster, and many in Ulster. They recognise no police except those of the republic, the Volunteers. They have established their courts and administer justice. I have been both in Sinn Fein courts and at a meeting at which Judges were elected right under the nose of the police. Sometimes the police knew, again they did not. It is interesting to see how half a county can maintain a secret. One could hardly ask for a better proof of the extent of the revolution. In the South and West of Ireland I did not find one man in twenty who was not a Sinn Feiner, and the few holding out seemed to be actuated less by conviction than by doubt in the success of the venture.

All Ireland, with the exception of part of Ulster and a very small minority in the South, has gone Sinn Fein. The movement has become respectable. It has in it the best people. The "people," the great mass of Irishmen, are all Sinn Fein. This was not so four years ago. The Sinn Feiners themselves say they had the active support of only a very small portion of the Irish population when they started the rebellion in Dublin in 1916. Their active forces throughout Ireland were not 2,000. Now they have at least 2,000,000 and probably many more with them. They have perhaps 100,000 men more or less armed. In the South of Ireland there is no longer any opposition worth mentioning to Sinn Fein. It is confined to a small group of Unionists that keeps silent. The Nationalists have gone over to Sinn Fein almost to a man. I do not say they would stick to an intransigeant attitude if the British Government came forward with an effective Home Rule, but, for the present at any rate they seem to be all lined up on the side of Sinn Fein. They are Irishmen first, and Sinn Fein is certainly carrying on the revolution for Irish independence.

HOLDING BACK TAXES

One of the best proofs that the revolution has gone a long way is that every one is avoiding paying taxes. Some of the income tax offices have been burned. Thousands of people in Ireland have made out their income tax checks and have left them lying on their desks, not sure they will ever have to pay. Even Unionists yield to this human weakness. Local taxes, which were always collected locally, are, as before, being collected by loca councils, though these councils have almost all declared their allegiance to the Irish Republic, and they carry on the local government as if it were all perfectly legal and there were no British Tommies patrolling the streets.

Sinn Fein has a policy of cool effrontery, studied insolence in the face of British armed authority. No one makes the slightest effort to conceal his Sinn Fein attitude. There is no need of it. The British Government cannot arrest 2,000,000 or 3,000,000. Government cannot do very much of anything.

Here are the bulk of the Irish people insisting upon national independence. The British government says it cannot and will not give it. But the authority of the British government has broken down. The Irish are replacing it with their republican government. Every day the British influence dwindles, and the Irish, having a sense of humor, put it in such a position that it is ridiculous.

At the same time the Irish know they cannot carry themselves through to independence alone. They know they must have so great a moral force outside of Ireland that Britain will be compelled to pay attention to their claims. They see two such forces. One is the British Labor party; the other is the United States. These two outside forces they expect eventually to act for them. Meanwhile they keep worrying the British administration by every form of difficulty, from killing its officials to kidnapping its Generals. They hope to keep before the eyes of the outside world the ferment that is going on in Ireland. They play their coups with the understanding as to their news values. As they are completely immersed in their undertaking to free Ireland they do not care to what lengths they go, and if I am to judge by the way many Sinn Fein leaders have talked to me it would be neither here nor there to them if they engaged Great Britain in another war with America, for example—if they succeeded in pulling Irish freedom out of it. Of course, they are openly working for the wrecking of the British Empire, and regard the Nationalists in Egypt, Indian mutineers, all who are dissatisfied with British rule, as their natural ally. The British are shocked at the idea, but the Irish regard it as the most logical thing in the world.

CRUSH BRITISH EMPIRE

Before I came to Ireland I could not credit the bitterness against England there appeared to be in Ireland. But, having taken a pretty good look about Ireland, I see that it is just about the most important reality in the whole situation. The Irish people want not only to be free but, exasperated by the cool force and weight of numbers of their British rulers, they have reached the point in their exasperation where they want to see the British Empire completely done in.

Sinn Fein, which has behind it today the great majority of the Irish people, is trying to put the British in such an absurd position that they will have to pull out their troops and let Ireland go her own way. It is consciously using ridicule as a weapon in its fight for Irish independence.

Such an effort seems rather absurd in itself, but it has worked, at least, in so far as to put the British into a ridiculous position. Their authority is flouted; they cannot do a thing with Ireland except by sheer force, and even their efforts at force are constantly foiled by wit. The Irish are running circles around the British and making game of them every day. It is all done in the best of temper too. In the game of Irish wit against British arms the Irish do not intend to lose out by getting angry.

ALL OFFICIALS GUARDED

Sinn Fein acts as if it were always trying to repress a smile. It not only has the high governmental officials in such fear that they never go out from Phoenix Park or Dublin Castle except under heavy guard, but it has even cut in behind their military bulwark twice recently by raiding their mail. It has the Government guarding every mail train and sending motor lorries filled with soldiers as postmen. It has made the Royal Irish Constabulary shelter itself behind the British soldiers. It has forced the Government to provide heavy guards to travel about the country with the Supreme Justices out on the circuit of the summer assizes. It stands and watches the Judges go clattering through the streets of provincial cities guarded by cavalrymen with carbines on their hips, and, ignoring this spectacle of the Empire's might, puts its Volunteers on every road leading into town to turn back the jurymen who have not heeded its warning not to attend the "English Court." His Lordship has to sit and hear the clerk call off long lists of talesmen who do not answer to their names, and Sinn Fein, which is present in its role of ordinary citizen, sits in the gallery and enjoys it hugely. Every one in Ireland grins at the joke. The majesty of the law cannot stand before such ridicule. And, as if that were not enough, Sinn Fein forces litigants, if they do not depend on their own, to come into its courts and try their cases, so the circulating Supreme Judges, who come with so much grandeur and display of power to the local Court House find the dockets empty.

In Sinn Fein courts it is another story. This is serious business. It represents the majesty of Sinn Fein law, and if there were any one in Ireland who had the temerity to come into this court to make game of it Sinn Fein would soon wipe off the smile.

'FOOLING' THE BRITISH

Not being able to rise in arms and throw the British Government out of Ireland, which Ireland now wishes seriously to do, it takes what relief it can in seeing the British fooled. When you consider how seriously the Irish are struggling for independence, it would seem like a petty satisfaction; but it is not that. There is really the hope that the British Government will find itself in such an undignified position some day in Ireland that it will be laughed out of the country.

Sinn Fein plays the game like this: When the Orangemen were going to hold their celebration of the battle of the Boyne on July 12, Sinn Fein let the report get to the "Castle" that it was going to send an armed force to Belfast to stop it. Such an act on the part of Sinn Fein would have been impossible, as its whole method of treating the Carsonites in the north is to regard them as deluded brother Irishmen who will some day see the light and fight for Irish freedom along with Sinn Fein. But the British military authorities were tricked into making extraordinary preparations to prevent the Sinn Feiners

Women In Business -:- By The Spectator

The entrance of women into the world's work is perhaps the most striking phase of modern social life.

It seems to call for a readjustment of the sex problem.

Some think it is full of threat. They fear the loosening of the moralities.

This fear, I am sure, is unfounded. Virtue is not in circumstances; it is in women. Virtue is not preserved by custom and restraint and guarding; virtue is a quality of the soul, an inherent of normal womanhood.

Shop girls and stenographers are quite as moral as the sheltered maidens in conservative homes. Perhaps more so, for in them personal integrity is not simply due to inexperience and ignorance, but is of a tougher and more dependable fiber, as is every human excellence that is developed by use and not merely by food and shelter.

I think if I were looking for a wife (which I am not, having been caught and tamed these many years by a woman who thoroughly understands the business) I would much rather marry my typewriter or feminine bookkeeper, whom I would know pretty well, than to take my chances with a young lady artificially dressed and mannered in a Winter ballroom or artificially undressed and unmannered at a Summer resort, for I would probably know of the latter nothing at all. As to her, I should be marrying a class, a set or a family; as to the former, I should be marrying a human being.

But really there is no difference. Woman is eternally the same (that is to say, eternally different) wherever you put her. Her environment does not make or unmake her. If she is self-respecting, gentle, and high-minded, sitting in satin parlors, riding in $6,000 automobiles, and sleeping in luxurious bedrooms she would be just as high-minded, gentle, and self-respecting if she had to sit behind glove counters, ride in five-cent street cars, and sleep in hall bedrooms where the smell of fish from the corridor creeps over the transom and mingles with the fragrance of the freight yard coming in at the window.

I know there is a large part of this undeveloped world who regard a woman's character as dependent upon her conditions. European mothers put their girls into convents to be educated, and when they come out watch them like a hawk until they are "married and done for."

I happen to be writing this in a European city. In my hotel is a charming miss of marriageable age and some money. I can't help feeling sorry for her. When a young man comes to call upon her, her mother always sits in the room. When they go to the theater it is the mother who rides with the young man and another woman has to come along to ride with the girl. I feel sorry for the mother, too, who is an intelligent woman around sixty, for she has to attend all the balls with her daughter, accompany her shopping, and go with her when she takes a walk. Never for a moment is the child left alone unless she is in her room with the door shut.

This seems to be the continental idea. Even for a young man to go to church alone with a young lady is tantamount to an engagement announcement. Sometimes after marriage a woman gets some liberty, but not always. I have heard of one Italian man who locks his wife in her apartment and carries off the key when he leaves her. Another man, in a small town, built his house upon the side of a high hill, where he could see it any minute from his office window, which was discouraging to callers.

And, of course, when we come to "the unspeakable Turk" the same principle is carried to its logical finish. These women are not supposed even to show their faces to other men.

It is hardly necessary to say to American readers that all this safeguarding of women makes them no more pure and good than the women of the United States. But carry the reasoning one step further. If the average American girl who runs about as she pleases and is thoroughly trusted is at least as virtuous as the wife of a Turk or the carefully selected wife of a Frenchman or an Italian, why is not the girl who works for a living as good as the "young lady at home?" She is. Her entrance into the downtown office has not hurt her and has elevated the moral tone of the office. Her presence in the department store does much to make that immense machine human.

But are not girls exposed to new temptations when they go into business life? Any change in the established customs exposes people to temptation. It is dangerous for the Podunk merchant to go to Chicago to buy goods. It is dangerous for the hired man to be sent to town to buy a new curry-comb; he might get drunk or meet with "low lifes." It is dangerous for the boy to go to college. It is even dangerous for the parson to take a trip to Europe. The only really safe thing is to stay at home and pull down the blinds.

Restriction is not character; it is a substitute for character.

from going north. They threw up barricades around Dublin and Belfast, stopped and examined traffic, and made a tremendous to-do about it. By so doing they served Sinn Fein's purpose doubly. They kept a lot of soldiers busy doing nothing, instead of sending them to parts of the country where they would be more troublesome to Sinn Fein, and at the same time, by throwing up sand-bag barricades to await a non-existent force, they made themselves again ridiculous.

TRICKS ON THE SOLDIERS

Down in the south and west of Ireland, where they are having the most success deviling the British, the local population is in the best of humor. As practically every one down there is Sinn Fein, and the rest know enough to keep still, there is no chance for disagreement, and the usual subject of conversation is the unfortunate British soldier whom they have made the butt of their jokes. Even those whom the British call "the murder gang" when of duty do not let the killings o which they have been guilty interfere with their good humor.

There are three stories going the rounds down in Limerick and Cork and throughout the counties that I have heard repeated with sufficient detail to make them sound true. But whether true or not their purpose of making the British ridiculous is achieved.

They all deal with the efforts of British soldiers to take down Sinn Fein flags. In one case the holsters of the flag nailed it to the top of a tree, cut off all the branches and greased the tree. There was nothing to do but to cut down the tree, but there was not an axe to be found in all the country around, so the soldiers had to go miles away to get one.

IN THE PRIEST'S GARDEN

In another instance the neighborhood boys chose a slender tree in the priest's garden, climbed as high as the lightest dared, and he put on his shoulders a little bit of a lad, who tied the flag to the very top. A motor lorry full of soldiers passing, several invaded the garden and one tried to climb up. He dared not climb within ten feet of it. The priest, who was looking on and was, of course, Sinn Fein, as is every priest I met in the interior of Ireland, told them they must not injure his tree. They had to give it up.

WOMAN!
The RIDDLE of the AGES!

WHY is she so DEADLY?

BECAUSE the passions of an uncultured age flamed in the breast of this American beauty.
BECAUSE the spirits of SAPPHO, MONA LISA and CLEOPATRA welled up in her soul!
YOU WILL ENJOY this powerful six-part drama.
BECAUSE she fought with the deadly weapon of the eternal woman.

She tricked the Wall Street Lion to the Maine Woods, snubbed him, belittled him, showed him how useless was money, and brought the Lion to heel.

A BATTLE OF A HEART-STRONG MAN AND A HEART-STRONG GIRL.
A SUPER PRODUCTION YOU WILL LONG REMEMBER.

OLYMPIC THEATRE

LOOK! Read what the New York newspapers said about the "German Submarine U-35"

N. Y. SUN.
Originally intended for German eyes only, the startling submarine films at the big Capitol Theatre are the most thrilling and sensational pictures New York has seen for a very long time. The GERMAN SUBMARINE U-35 is shown in action on the seas and many vessels are destroyed in front of your very eyes, it is certainly a powerful and remarkable picture.

N. Y. TIMES.
The Capitol Theatre has a thrilling picture of actual sea warfare that has created more comment than any film shown at our theatres for a long time. The GERMAN SUBMARINE U-35 scenes are wonderful in every sense of the word.

N. Y. GLOBE.
Nothing more remarkable has ever been shown here in New York than the pictures of the German submarine warfare now at the Capitol Theatre. The "Submarine U-35" pictures certainly stand out as a feature worthy of special consideration. It is a record of the exploits of a famous underseas raider as it continued its work of destruction on the seas. The pictures are unusually clear and are certainly thrilling and impressive.

N. Y. TELEGRAM.
The most interesting part of the Capitol Theatre programme this week is the remarkable pictures of the exploits of the GERMAN SUBMARINE U-35. These pictures taken from the deck of the underseas craft show in an intensely thrilling manner the actual sinking of at least seven merchant vessels on the high seas by the famous raider.

See these thrilling and wonderful picture
